'Embedded Electronics' cluster Playing a crucial role

Interoperability and interchangeability are at the heart of the international and NATO standards processes. The Embedded Electronics cluster allows your company to acquire international visibility in line with current issues and a solution for future equipments.

Eurosatory, the largest international exhibition dedicated to Land Security & Defence, allows companies to promote their products and meet high-level decision-makers and experts.

Components, connectics, systems, applications: propose all your turnkey solutions to the integrators, decision-makers and end-users from Defence and Security Forces:

- weapons, ammunition, explosives,
- vehicles, aircraft, UAV-UGV's,
- C4ISTAR, communication and information systems,
- vetronics.

Why exhibit at the 'Embedded Electronics' cluster?

- meet a high-level international selection of Defence & Security visitors : in 2010, 25% of 53,000 professional visitors declared themselves interested in Embedded Electronics, 48% of whom are directly involved in procurement processes,
- enhance your corporate identity among key players,
- present your high-technology solutions,
- exhibit your last innovative technologies and launch new products,
- discover Defence and Security forces' new projects and requirements,
- develop your business network by participating in the Eurosatory BtoB meetings ®.

What can be exhibited?

- batteries and accumulators
- I.T materials, computers and terminal units
- peripherals
- softwares, hardware
- electronic subsets

Among the exhibitors from the Embedded Electronics field, the following companies took part in the cluster in 2010:
